Patient Education Resources

Trusted Information From the American Academy of Pediatrics

As the kids head back to school, you have a timely opportunity to encourage the families in your care to learn more about important parenting topics. From pediatrician-authored books to affordable and accessible booklets, AAP patient education products offer everything you wish families knew. You can help caregivers become life-long-parenting-learners by sharing or recommending materials from the AAP!

We're especially excited to share with you the new edition of our flagship parenting book, Caring for Your Baby and Young Child: Birth to Age 5 (page 3). When new parents have a question, this comprehensive guide has answers backed by AAP policy and clinical practice guidelines, made easily understandable for parents. Also new is a fully revised and updated edition of New Mother's Guide to Breastfeeding (page 5), the most in-depth, pediatrician-endorsed book on the topic.

For more concise takes on a broad range of topics, check out our booklets and brochures. Of special note are two new booklets, Feeding Babies and Toddlers: Nutrients Your Child Needs and Positive Parenting: Strategies to Help Children and Teens Thrive (page 13).

To help you share these resources with families, we offer quantity discounts on all our booklets, brochures, and books for parents. So go ahead and assign some pediatrician-approved homework this fall! We bet you and parents will both earn an A+!

Nurturing Boys to Be Better Men

Gender Equality Starts at Home

Shelly Vaziri Flais, MD, FAAP

Dr Flais gives parents the tools they need to start the lifelong process of raising their boys into men who are mentally healthy, empathetic, and committed to gender equality. Dr Flais provides concrete techniques for parents to push back against cultural stereotypes and toxic masculinity as they nurture their sons. She explains developmentally appropriate opportunities for modeling gender equality at every age from before birth through early adulthood. This conversation starter emphasizes the benefits of gender equality for boys and girls, men and women, and discusses it in the context of not only the family but also the extended family, school, and greater community.

Congrats—You're Having a Teen!

Strengthen Your Family and Raise a Good Person

Kenneth R. Ginsburg, MD, MS Ed, FAAP

Dads and moms of adolescents are often warned about parenting teenagers by other well-meaning adults. But pediatrician Dr Ginsburg is out to prove that these years are parents' best opportunity to effectively guide their children toward adulthood and should be celebrated! He shows how to help teens build confidence in their ability to handle the world on their own, while laying the groundwork for a stronger relationship for life. Parents will learn to understand their child's developmental needs and meet them, rather than finding themselves in conflict. Moms and dads will also learn ways to support a teen's growth, and even their healthy experimentation, while ensuring their safety and moral development. With Dr Ginsburg's effective and mutually respectful communication strategies, parents and teens will emerge with stronger connections and a healthier family.
